U.S. Citizens May Transfer To Own Forces

OTTAWA, March 20.—(AP)—United States citizens in the Canadian armed forces will be afforded an opportunity to apply for transfer to United States forces under a new agreement between Canada and the United States announced in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The United States will accord the same right of transfer to Canadians serving in U.S. forces.

The Prime Minister tabled an exchange of notes between the countries regarding forth terms of the agreement.

The notes said there now are in the Canadian armed forces from 15,000 to 16,000 United States citizens.

ROOSEVELT OATH

Technically, all are not actual citizens of the United States. Some enlisted in the Canadian forces during the first months of the war when Canada required an oath of allegiance and, by taking the oath, lost their United States citizenship and became Canadian citizens.

The present agreement, however, covers those former citizens—allegiance was taken by the United States department said. "It treats them as citizens," he said.

Applications for transfer to the United States will be granted if U.S. authorities are willing to accept the applicant and provided the Canadian authorities are empowered to postpone transfer, if, in their opinion, immediate transfer would prejudicially affect the common war effort.

Boards will be sent to Canada to interview the applicants and will have power to enlist them into the armed forces.

Transfer applications will be received up to April 20 from personnel serving with Dominion forces in Canada. Men serving in Newfoundland and Jamaica will be necessary, be given a week or so longer to send in their applications.

Personal serving elsewhere may apply for transfer within 15 days after notice of the right to apply has appeared in orders of the unit. Those who are not in the unit will not ordinarily be transferred to U.S. service in the area in which they are transferred.

R. C. Vaughan, president of the Canadian National Railways, the annual report of the system, presented in the House of Commons Thursday, revealed that 1941 was the best financial year in C.N.R. history.

The departmental estimates passed were assessed, building department, civic block, children, ad. indirect relief, health board, city clerk's office, commissioners' office, comptrollers, engineers, fire and police departments.

In not a single department was there any change in the expenditure recommended by the city council.

Figures In Storm

By a vote of 37 to 13 the legislature on Thursday passed a resolution urging the federal government to increase old age pensions to $50 a month and lower the qualifying age from 70 to 60 years, and also asking the Dominion to assume 75 per cent of the cost of a supplementary pension for old and blind pensioners which has been voted by the assembly.

Debate was featured by votes rejecting two proposed amendments and approving a third, which was embodied in the final resolution. A solid social credit vote on the final question was supported by four opposition members, J. P. Farr, Edmond, Hugh John Macdonald, K. C., Lib. Edmond, E. J. Martin, Ind. Labor, and Angus Morrison, P. R. Edmond.

Text of the resolution, which was moved by Mrs. Cornelia R. Wood, S. C. Stony Plain, and seconded by J. P. Farr, C. A. Alexander, for:

"Whereas, the present scale of old age pensions is totally inadequate and the conditions under which they are paid are inequitable and unjust, and

"Whereas, social justice demands that the nation shall care for its senior citizens at a standard which will maintain them in comfort and ease;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the assembly urge upon the federal government the necessity of taking steps early to revise the Old Age Pension act and establish retiring pay at age 60, without the necessity of the present harsh means

Edmonton Route On Alaska Road Now Protested

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Representative Coffey (D-Wash.) said in a statement last night he had protested to the state department against the joint American plan to build a highway system for Canada under the pressure of war emergency.

"If regard it as a grave error and it has the appearance of the United States financing construction of a highway system for Canada under the pressure of war emergency," Coffey said.

He said he was as concerned as any citizen of the route has been made and the terrain is immeasurably difficult for road construction. The high altitude will cause delays and the frozen tundra of the northern section of the route will cause road collapse.

System Possible For Production

MONTREAL, March 20.—(CP)—Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, called today for a "complete inventory" of Canadian production capacity and warned that the "competitive system" of production would be replaced by one based entirely on the criterion of maximum production.

"Obviously, to such a system can be undertaken unless there is a clear plan of procedure and integration beyond anything yet attempted," he said.

Mr. Gordon, whose job is to direct operations of the general price-calling machinery in the dominion, said the nation must be prepared to "give up all choices and preferences" and to "accept a standard of living based on bare essentials."

"Only by so doing," he told his joint service club audience, "can we avoid the war of maximum production."

Nanaimo Swamps Luscar 15-8 To Enter Western Final

NANAIMO, March 20.—(CP)—Nanaimo Clippers entered the western Canada intermediate amateur hockey finals by defeating Luscar Indians 15-8 here Thursday night, taking their best-of-three interprovincial series in two straight games.

Doug Martinson led the Clippers attack with five goals while Jackie Mann and Dave Mackay each collected three. Other Nanaimo scorers were Don Stanley, Tead Klein, Red Carr and Bill Sutherland.

George Bonner netted three and Bill Stone two for the Indians with Jimmy McVey, McGuire and Frank Donovan each adding one.

Clippers now will meet Swift Current Indians here in the western Canada finals in the first game, tentatively scheduled for Monday night.

The Indians, who lost the series opener to Clippers 8-4 here Tuesday night, showed plenty of fighting during the first period of last night's game, piling up a 3-0 lead.

The powerful Nanaimo machine went into high gear in the second frame, however, lining up the score at 6-0 at the 15 minute mark despite the frame with an 8-0 advantage.

Clippers continued to swarm all over the Luscar net in the third frame, planning seven counters past goalie Claude Barthelemy.

After their first period splurge, the Indians were powerless to stop the Nanaimo offensive and counted only one goal in the second frame and two in the third.

The game was closed with few penalties called.

Assembly Asks Alberta Reach Arctic Coast

Resolution urging the Dominion government to extend Alberta's boundaries northward to the Arctic coast, to take in that part of the North West Territories immediately north of the province and east of the Yukon, was passed Thursday by the legislature.

After lengthy debate, the resolution, last on the order paper of the session, was approved by a slight vote of 36 to 15. Joining "No" government in approval were Angus Macpherson, Labor, Edson and E. J. Martin, Ind., Peace River. Other opposition members opposed the proposal.

The motion which urged the Dominion government to extend the boundaries said the immediate development of the vast natural resources known to exist in the territory is essential to the speeding-up of the war effort and the immediate production of these minerals and other resources is necessary in the post-war reconstruction effort.

FREIGHT RATES
The resolution also urged the extension of "the only means by which Alberta in particular and western Canada in general can hope to overcome the glaring inequalities of a discriminatory freight-rate structure and the devastating effect of the federal tariff policy on western economy."

Hon. W. A. Pelly, minister of public works, claimed the discriminatory freight-rate structure cost Alberta $12,000,000 a year, the insurance set-up costs the province $18,000,000 annually and the federal tariff system costs $10,000,000.

"The total disability to Alberta every year is $30,000,000," Mr. Pelly declared. "That is the price we are being asked to pay for the privilege of singing 'O Canada.'"

He asked how a strong national spirit can be developed "under such persecution."

While speaking of freight rates, the minister said that before the outbreak of the war the railways were charging $5 a ton for shipping scrap iron from Edmonton to Vancouver so it could be sent to Japan, but at present to ship this scrap iron to Vancouver to assist in the war effort it costs $10 a ton.

George Macdonald (Ind., Pembina) replied he could not see where the minister's references to tariffs and the freight-rate structure has any connection with the boundary extension.

FEDERAL PROJECT
Alfred Speakman, Independent group leader, contended that assuming the resources the government claimed are in the area were there, the logical government to develop them for war purposes is the federal government which is carrying on the war effort.

Getting Around

here for inexperience. Show me an expert machanic, a tool maker, a sheet-metal operator, a welder, a fitter, maker, a wood tool-maker, or a skilled inspector in my line and I'll have him in here as fast as I will make him a good one. He can tell me where I can find some aeromaterial or mechanical engineers, or tool-makers, experts who will receive a rising vote of approval. Every man out there will get a hearing, but we are looking for good boys of training on the job to build aircraft specialists.

To sum up the aircraft industry needs men—badly. Millions of men need jobs—badly. Yet only a small percentage of them will find work line up first.

Preceding the biller debate on the battlefield in the last few months was a decade of defeat stretching down a long, mournful corridor of years from 1919 to 1939. Foretold by the leaders and the peoples of Canada and the United States during that decade would have prevented what has happened and is still happening on the battlefield.

The thousands of thousands of trained mechanics and other engineers who could have been on the job from the day the present war started, fully trained and eager to roll out the bombers that would have shattered the wave of air attack in Europe. The mobilization of this technical army might have been instantaneous and smooth.

Millions and millions of men just "hung around the street corners of the nation," said George Thompson put it, in that dark and grey decade of defeat. They could have formed the fully trained technical army that Martin and other companies are crying for today.

The shipyards are also crying for trained men. The army, too, requires more and more men with special skill and technical qualifications. The Alaska highway might have been ready to fill its vital strategic role.

All of these things could have been so easily accomplished and at less monetary cost than is now entailed by the present pressures and confusion of the war.

And no one could have accused us of military defeat by the army of mechanics.

Surely those 10 years were "the years that the local had eaten."

the logical government to develop them for war purposes is the federal government which is carrying on the war effort.

IRRIGATION PROJECT
Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of agriculture, announced an Alberta government official has been in Ottawa for more than a month laying plans for an irrigation project to "run into millions and millions" of dollars.

At the start of the session J. H. Bowen of Calgary and J. H. Macdonald announced they would sit in the house as Liberals but would continue to co-operate with the "independent" group. They did not change their seats.

The legislature passed bills to: Ratify the agreement providing for the transfer of the income and corporation taxation fields to the Dominion government for the duration of the war and one year after.

Prohibit the sale of land to enemy aliens and Hitlerites for the duration of the war.

Providing for the opening of schools with compulsory tuition without consent of a passage from scripture following the resolution of the lords prayer.

WAR BONDS
Authorizing municipalities to invest surplus funds in Dominion Victory War Bonds and to validate the order-in-council which gave this authority in 1941.

The house passed resolutions: Protesting about the April 27 war service plebiscite claiming it will cause loss of energy and time, inconvertible expenditure of money and will result in disunity.

Condemning open advocacy of the union now movement which was claimed would divert Canadian funds from the essential government authority.

Urging the Dominion government to accept full responsibility for rehabilitation of members of the armed services at the end of the war.

Members passed a bill authorizing the government to spend up to $100,000 in purchase of seed grain to distribute to Alberta farmers.

The bill was calculated to make certain farmers have enough seed. Farmers will pay the government for the seed.

Legion Urges Vote Of "Yes" On Plebiscite

Members of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., will take immediate steps to organize a strong and representative committee to work for an overwhelming "yes" vote in the forthcoming competition plebiscite vote on April 27.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Legion branch held in the Memorial hall Thursday night, the membership unanimously endorsed the following resolution, submitted by Walter R. McLaren:

"That the members of this branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., take immediate steps to form a citizens' committee to be known as the 'Affirmative Vote Committee' or by some other appropriate name, such committee to be charged with the duty of rallying the public to the vital importance of voting on the plebiscite to be held on April 27 and voting 'Yes'."

MASS MEETINGS
Mr. McLaren's motion was carried in the form of an amendment the following resolution introduced by E. Poole calling for the holding of mass meetings in the Empire Theatre and Memorial Hall.

Prior to voting on the resolution, President Harold Jones of the Legion branch stated the Legion itself was 100 per cent behind the plebiscite and also 100 per cent in favor of a "yes" verdict.

Mr. Turner also pointed out the Legion as an organization does not view the conscription of manpower for overseas war service as important to a total war effort. The Legion favors a total mobilization of men, money and materials in a thoroughly scientific integrated effort to win the war, he said.

In support of this stand, Secretary-Manager J. H. Van Slyke read excerpts from a recent speech by Dominion President Alex Walker, Calgary.

TO FORM COMMITTEE
A committee of the Legion will immediately start working on the formation of the citizens committee. It is planned to approach prominent citizens, who are representative of every kind of organization functioning in the city, to serve on the committee.

In speaking to his resolution, Mr. McLaren said he felt there would be a fine opportunity to put men on the spot on election day by having "yes" badges to all those voting at the polls.

Mr. Poole said the reason he favored public meetings was to

Bill Extends Jurisdiction For Oil, Gas

A bill to extend the province's jurisdiction over oil or natural gas leases, subject to certain restrictions, was passed by the legislature, Thursday. Objections by J. C. Mahaffy, K.C., Ind., claimed that the bill was unconstitutional in that it violated terms under which leaseholders took certain leases prior to transfer of natural resources from Dominion to province, was defeated.

Mr. Mahaffy's objections were raised when the bill was being discussed in committee of the whole. Shortly after, the assembly gave third reading to 18 bills, completing the consideration of all legislation of the session, which progressed Thursday night.

The bill to ratify the oil agreement provides that on all bills mentioned in the agreement there will be a royalty of 10 per cent for the life of these wells. They are wells which were producing, drilling or financed prior to June 1, 1941, at which time the Alberta government by order-in-council increased royalties.

ROYALTY SCALE
Under the agreement all future wells will pay a royalty of 12 1/2 per cent or a royalty on the sliding scale from 5 to 15 per cent, whichever option is chosen by the leaseholders. These latter rates will be effective until June 1, 1951, when all leases will be subject to the then existing royalties.

The agreement has been signed by Hon. T. A. Croteau, minister of mines and resources. To complete ratification of the agreement an act must be passed by parliament, but a bill for this purpose has not been introduced in the House of Commons.

Mr. Mahaffy said he objects "vehemently" to the bill as two grounds—it is unfair to persons who obtained leases before natural resources were transferred demolished to all that returned men who had fought in the trenches do the speaking.

Wetaskiwin Man Wins Commission
Air Observer K. W. N. Holby of Wetaskiwin, has been commissioned a pilot officer in the field. It was announced Friday at R.C.A.F. headquarters in Ottawa.

Holby is among 16 who were recently commissioned in the field. Recommendations are in line with the recent statement of Air Minister Power, who said that every effort will be made to obtain recognition of exceptional ability and courage displayed by members of the R.C.A.F.

Marriage Aspects Under Discussion

Eugenical aspects of marriage were discussed by two authorities at the fourth weekly meeting of young Edmonton citizens attending the "Two Can Live Happier Than One" course at the Y.M.C.A. building, Thursday night.

The lectures are sponsored by the Other Y's club under the chairmanship of Donald McAllister, mill arranger, president of the club, presided at the men's lecture.

The meeting Thursday night was held separately with Dr. Mildred Folmer Newell addressing the young ladies and Dr. John Ross Van taking to the young men.

The lectures were in the form of frank discussions of how physical and mental health of the parents will be reflected upon their children. General discussions followed the lectures.

Escape To Adventure

By Priscilla Wayne

JUDITH RANIER came away from her home in New Mexico, arriving at Lost Mesa, New Mexico, at the last Mesa station to meet a man from the Canadian office. Hearing a gun, she ran to the station. There it became apparent to her that the man was a desperado. She ran to her husband, Peter, who was a desperado. She ran to her husband, Peter, who was a desperado. She ran to her husband, Peter, who was a desperado.

CHAPTER VII
"I would have been much better," the detective told Judith's father and Bob Orwood a little later, "if you had called us in on this case earlier. Hundreds of girls disappear from a big city every year. Of course a good percentage of them are located almost immediately."

"Well, hope that will be true in Mrs. Ranier's case. Just the same, it would have been better to have begun the search immediately after the disappearance. You say that she must have left the telephone call."

"I do not believe that she did. Her maid seems to think that no jewelry of any value is missing, and I don't believe that my daughter ever carried a great deal of money."

"That's a hopeful thing," the detective said, "in a measure, rule out the theory that any violent thing has happened to her."

SPRITED GIRL

"I think you have put your finger on the real happening, Mr. Ranier, when you say she probably came to her room, took the very plain clothes she had been wearing, and went away to do exactly what she told you she would do—find a job and prove that she could look after herself. She sounds like a very spirited girl. I imagine we will have very little difficulty locating her."

"Of course I needn't tell you that I shall want as frequent reports as you can possibly give me."

Judy's father said, "Alfred, I want to be very worried. You are, I know my daughter, she's a smart girl and she's quite self-reliant. I expected, too, that she would get in touch with me more often than this."

"And I wanted to keep any reports of any kind out of the papers. We've made an explanation of a note to the press who had been inquired to the wedding, we've tried to save our faces about it just as we could. But of course you know there's a great deal of gossip going on."

"Thank you," Mr. Ranier said, sitting back at his desk and watching the detective left, closing the office door after him.

"Bob, cheer up," he said, "don't worry. Judy's all right. I'm sure she is. We'll have good news within a day or so."

"I hope so," Bob said with a rueful grin. "It isn't any fun being stood up at the altar, but if Judy's all right and perfectly safe, I guess I can manage to smile even though she never agrees again to become Mrs. Orwood."

Judy Ranier could have wept with relief to see Peter Burke come running up to the ranch house. And he was every bit as ridiculous old car had seen him drive away that first evening of her appearance.

McKenney On Bridge

By Wm. E. MCKENNEY,

America's Card Authority

This is the fifth of a series of six articles on colorful hands played in 1941.

Today's hand was shown me recently by a player who held the best cards in a duplicate match.

North-South by semi-psychic bidding had tried to discourage him from going to game, but with his top tricks in his own hand he had gone to the three no trump.

After taking the first diamond, East led a heart and let South know the trick. South continued diamonds. East won, led a heart to the ace, and then a third heart.

When the suit failed to break, declarer won only eight tricks.

"Now," the player said to me, "I found out afterwards that I could have made this hand. Do you see how?"

"Yes," I answered, "I see that you could have made it. After taking the third round of hearts, South forced out your third top diamond. You should now have cashed the ace of clubs, then led the six of clubs and finessed the ten if South played low. Then you take a fourth heart from dummy, discard your king of clubs. South takes his good diamond, but then this is a cash the heart."

"Do you mean to say that you saw all this at a glance? And do you think I should have figured it out?"

"Well, frankly," I said, "I didn't have to figure it out. I only had to recognize the hand. About six years ago, substantially this same hand turned up, and Charles Goren, Philadelphia played it just as I have described in order to make contract. There is your answer to the question of whether a player should be able to figure out this chance with only two hands in sight."
